

An error has been detected in Figure 12 of the article written by Benito B et al “Brugada Syndrome” (Rev Esp Cardiol. 2009;62:1297-315), published in the November 2009 issue. The figure indicated that the use of EPS in an asymptomatic patient with Non-Spontaneous Type I ECG is recommended for class IIa, when it should be recommended for class IIb.

---

An error has been detected in the Zigor Madarria et al article, “Tako tsubo syndrome. Atypical presentation”, published in the March issue of Revista Española de Cardiología (Rev Esp Cardiol. 2010;63:364-5). In the “References” where it states “6. Andión M, Molina B, Usano AI, Crespo D.

Discinesia medioventricular transitoria: síndrome de tako-tsubo. La saga continua. Rev Esp Cardiol. 2008;61:1220-6” should state “6. Almendro-Delia M, Hidalgo R. Discinesia medioventricular transitoria: síndrome de tako-tsubo. La saga continua. Rev Esp Cardiol. 2008;61:1220-6”.